you have the motion relating to two issues before your Honor already, but as we understand it just as an example one of the things that WAMY did was to collect documents from all of its various field offices around the world and send them to Saudi Arabia instead of New York.

THE COURT: That's part of your current motion, correct?

MR. CARTER: No, your Honor.

THE COURT: I mean, the one I just got.

MR. CARTER: No, the motion you just got relates to production of documents from WAMY Canada, one of the branch offices. They haven't been sent to Saudi Arabia.

THE COURT: I think it was in relation to one of your letters to WAMY today that was that issue.

MR. CARTER: That's correct. So there are motions to compel that another round for WAMY, for instance, and as we have always talked about the document production deadline, all the earlier orders contemplated that there would be a period post completion of productions to do motions to compel, because until we have the documents we won't know what we need to compel. So we've picked off what we can based on the current state of affairs, but we can't do everything in advance.

THE COURT: But the problem is unless at some point we have a drop dead deadline applicable to every defendant and every plaintiff in the case we keep kicking the can down the SOUTHERN DISTRICT REPORTERS, P.C.
